MUSIC NOTES

Herbert Howells was born in Gloucestershire, England and studied with Charles Stanford and Charles Wood at the Royal College of Music. He was the most important English composer of the generation to succeed Elgar, Vaughan Williams, and Holst, and his contribution to the renaissance of English choral music in the twentieth century is unparalleled. In 1941 Howells was appointed Acting Organist of St. John's College, Cambridge, and in 1943 he composed his famous Morning and Evening Canticles for King's College, Cambridge (the Collegium Regale service). In 1956 Howells revisited the themes of this now-classic work in his Holy Communion service which once again displays the composer's natural aptitude for counterpoint and his flair for sheer beauty of vocal harmony; this morning the Harvard University Choir presents the majestic Gloria and the haunting Agnus Dei.

Colin Mawby was a chorister at Westminster Cathedral, where he would later become Master of the Music; his setting of Ave verum corpus is for eight-part choir and utilizes a luscious harmonic language.

An outstanding organist, Howells had a natural gift for improvisation, and was a composer committed to illustrating the full range of coloristic possibilities of the twentieth-century organ. This morning's prelude combines a sense of lyricism and mysticism; the postlude is a stirring hymn of praise.
