Call to Worship
from Psalm 36 & Isaiah 2
Minister: Your steadfast love, O Lord, extends to the heavens, your faithfulness to the clouds.
People: Your righteousness is like the mighty mountains,
your judgments are like the great deep.
Minister: How precious is your steadfast love, O God!
All people may take refuge in the shadow of your wings.
People: For with you is the fountain of life;
in your light we see light.
Minister: Come, let us set out in the light of the Lord.

Confession
In unison:
Eternal God, in whom we live and move and have our being, whose face is hidden from us by our sin, and whose mercy we forget: cleanse us from all offenses, and deliver us from proud thoughts and vain desires; that humbly we may draw near to thee, confessing our faults, confiding in thy grace, and finding in thee our refuge and our strength, through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Psalm 112:1–9
Beatus vir
Chant by Walter Parratt (1841–1924)

Blessed is the man that feareth the Lord; he hath great delight in his commandments.

His seed shall be mighty upon earth; * the generation of the faithful shall be blessed.

Riches and plenteousness shall be in his house; and his righteousness endureth for ever.

Unto the godly there ariseth up light in the darkness;

he is merciful, loving, and righteous.

A good man is merciful, and lendeth; and will guide his words with discretion.

For he shall never be moved:

and the righteous shall be had in everlasting remembrance.

He will not be afraid of any evil tidings;

for his heart standeth fast, and believeth in the Lord.

His heart is stablished, and will not shrink, until he see his desire upon his enemies.

He hath dispersed abroad, and given to the poor.

and his righteousness remaineth for ever; his horn shall be exalted with honour.

DOXOLOGY

Sung by the congregation, standing

Praise God, from whom all blessings flow.

Praise God, all people here below.

Praise God above, ye heavenly host.

Creator, Christ and Holy Ghost.

Amen.

FIRST LESSON

1 Kings 19:11–18
Pew Bible, page 302 (OT)

ANTHEM

O Sing unto the Lord, Z. 44
Henry Purcell (1659–1695)

O sing unto the Lord a new song. Alleluia.

Sing unto the Lord, all the whole earth. Alleluia.

Sing unto the Lord and praise his name:

be telling of his salvation from day to day.
Declare his honor unto the heathen:
and his wonders unto all people.
Glory and worship are before him:
power and honor are in his sanctuary.
The Lord is great, and cannot worthily be praised:
he is more to be feared than all gods.
As for the gods of the heathen, they are but idols:
but it is the Lord that made the heavens.
O worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness:
let the whole earth stand in awe of him.
Tell it out among the heathen that the Lord is King:
And that it is he who hath made the round world
so sure that it cannot be moved;
'tis he who hath made the round world so fast that it cannot be moved;
And how that he shall judge the people righteously.
Alleluia.

Psalm 96

SECOND LESSON
2 Corinthians 12:1–10

PRAYER HYMN
The congregation seated

Day by day, dear Lord, of the threethings I pray: to see thee more clearly, love thee more dearly, follow thee more nearly, day by day.

THE PRAYERS OF THE PEOPLE
THE LORD’S PRAYER

In unison:
Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, on earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever and ever. Amen.

Following the Lord’s Prayer, the Prayer Hymn is repeated.

ANTHEM

The Stable Door (1933)
C. Armstrong Gibbs (1889–1960)

A soft light from a stable door
Lies on the midnight lands;
The Wise Man’s star burns evermore
Over all desert sands.
Unto all peoples of the earth
A little child brought light;
And never in the darkest place
Can it be utter night.

No flickering torch, no wavering fire,
But life, the Light of men;
Whatever clouds may veil the sky
Never is night again.

All lectures will be held in the sanctuary at 7 pm and are free and open to the public.

MUSIC NOTES

This morning’s music is somewhat of a chronological survey of English church music, befitting today’s English-born guest director (albeit now, as of two years ago, an American citizen). For the prelude, David von Behren plays a work by one of the greatest composers to adorn the court of Elizabeth I, whom the Queen protected despite his continued adherence to the Catholic faith. David writes: “In 1563, William Byrd was appointed organist and master of the choristers at Lincoln Cathedral. This decade proved fruitful for Byrd in his vocal and keyboard writing. In addition to settings for Anglican matins, communion, and evensong services, Byrd made significant strides in writing fantasias for keyboard. His Fantasia in A is inextricably linked to his vocal, polyphonic works within the opening phrases. The latter portions of the work closely mimic an ‘echo fantasia,’ short improvisatory sections that emulate a ‘call-and-response’ pattern; this construction is often associated with the keyboard works of Sweelinck.”

When Charles II took the throne after Commonwealth, he brought with him the musical tastes he had acquired during his exile in France, where he had heard the music of Lully and the “24 violins of the King” under Louis IX. Not for him the formal counterpoint of the previous age; he wanted music in his chapel he could tap his foot to! And string “symphonies” became a feature of the new style, though in Charles’s chapel there was only room (and budget) for a string quartet. Among the bevy of talented “Children of the Chapel,” recruited for the reconstituted Chapel Royal choir who went on to become fine composers, Henry Purcell became by common consent the greatest. Another notable singer in that choir was (in John Evelyn’s words) the “stupendous” bass John Gostling, known for his immense vocal range.
C. Armstrong Gibbs, a contemporary of Herbert Howells, was particularly noted for his song writing and music for strings. Educated at Winchester College and Trinity College, Cambridge, he taught at the Royal College of Music in London and was noted as choral conductor as well as for judging at music festivals; he wrote three symphonies and much church music.

Kenneth Leighton was born in Wakefield in Yorkshire, singing in the Cathedral Choir there as a chorister. He studied at Oxford and with Petrassi in Rome; he was a noted pianist. He then later taught at Oxford, as Fellow of Worcester College, finishing his career as Professor at Edinburgh University; he was a prolific composer of church and organ music. Paean was written in 1967 on commission from Oxford University Press and features Leighton’s typically astringent harmonies and driving rhythms. Dr. Somerville had the privilege of recording this work in 1969 on the then radically new tracker organ in New College Chapel, in the composer’s presence.
