THE HARVARD UNIVERSITY CHOIR PRESENTS

The Three Hermits

A CHURCH OPERA

BY STEPHEN PAULUS

Sunday, October 23, 2016 • 4 PM
First Church in Cambridge, Congregational
11 Garden St., Cambridge, MA
Welcome to First Church, Cambridge, and to this concert performance of Stephen Paulus’s church opera The Three Hermits. Based on a short story by Leo Tolstoy, the opera features a colorful cast of characters richly portrayed through Paulus’s striking and beautiful music. The opera focuses on the themes of humility, tolerance, and servitude, making it of particular relevance in our current climate. It has been a real pleasure to prepare this wonderful work with such an enthusiastic group of young singers and instrumentalists, and we hope that you enjoy the performance.

Stephen Paulus’s untimely death in 2014 was a great loss to the American music scene. Paulus had been one of the country’s most prolific composers, particularly well-known for his operas and church music. On a personal note, the last time we performed The Three Hermits (in 2008), Mr. Paulus spent a few days at Harvard, getting to know the choir and talking to our church community about his work. It was a delight to get to know him and he was greatly enthused by the work of our students and the resulting performance. This afternoon’s performance is given in his memory, presented almost two years to the day of his passing, October 19, 2014.

It continues to be my very great privilege to serve in the Memorial Church and to lead a choir of students whose love of singing brings so much joy to the community. Our work would not be possible without the support of so many benefactors, and I would like to thank all of our patrons for their ongoing generosity. This is indeed an exciting time for music and ministry in the Memorial Church, and I encourage you to join our email list by visiting our website, memorialchurch.harvard.edu, where you can also make a contribution to our free concert series. In addition, donations can be made at the close of today’s concert in support of the choir’s upcoming international tour in January 2017.

My sincere thanks go to my colleagues in the Memorial Church, whose friendship and encouragement I cherish. I thank most gratefully my friends and colleagues, the Reverend Daniel Smith and Peter Sykes—along with the entire staff of First Church, Cambridge—for so generously welcoming us during our sabbatical from the Memorial Church. To the Harvard University Choir secretaries, Andy Troska and Cara Jacobson, I give my endless gratitude for all they do to ensure the group’s smooth-running. Finally, I thank you, the audience, for your support of this afternoon’s concert, and for your continued enthusiasm for the music program in the Memorial Church.

Synopsis

A bishop, accompanied by his mother and two nuns, is travelling on a ship across the White Sea in Russia. Many pilgrims are also on board. Hearing a fisherman tell of three strange old hermits who live on a remote island, the bishop resolves to go there and deliver some religious instruction to them. After being rowed ashore, the bishop spends the entire day on the island teaching the Lord’s Prayer to the hermits, who have considerable difficulty learning it. Finally satisfied that he has done God’s work, the bishop is rowed back to the ship at day’s end and sails away from the island. As the moon shines over the water and the bishop is sitting on deck with his mother, she notices a disturbance behind them on the water. It turns out to be the three hermits, who are running over the water toward them. When the hermits arrive, they apologize to the bishop for having forgotten the words of the Lord’s Prayer after “Who art in heaven.” Chastened, the bishop assures the old men that the way they choose to pray is well-loved by God. The hermits then turn and run back over the water. The last words we hear are those of their original prayer: “Three are Ye; three are we; have mercy on us!”

“And in praying do not heap up empty phrases as the Gentiles do; for they think that they will be heard for their many words. Do not be like them, for your Father knows what you need before you ask him.” — Matthew 6:7, 8

For over 175 years the Harvard University Choir has provided a unique opportunity for student singers to perform choral literature at the highest level, both in concert and during the services of the Memorial Church. Its program of daily choral services, broadcasts, tours, commissions, and recordings make it one of the premier college chapel ensembles in the United States, and each year the choir presents America’s longest-running Christmas Carol Services to packed congregations. Highlights of recent seasons include concert performances of J. S. Bach’s St. John Passion and Mass in B minor, C. P. E. Bach’s Die Israeliten in der Wüste, Gluck’s Orfeo ed Euridice, Handel’s Athalia, Saul, and Messiah, Mozart’s Requiem and Mass in C minor (in completions by Harvard Professor Robert Levin), Roxanna Panufnik’s Westminster Mass, Alice Parker’s Melodious Accord, Stephen Paulus’s The Three Hermits, Benjamin Britten’s St. Nicolas, and the world premiere of composer-in-residence Carson Cooman’s The Acts of the Apostles. Committed to the presentation of new music, the choir has premiered works by today’s most prominent composers, including David Conte, Tarik O’Regan, Alice Parker, Daniel Pinkham, Craig Phillips, and John Rutter.

Edward Elwyn Jones is the Gund University Organist and Choirmaster at Harvard University, a post he has held since 2003. Mr. Jones directs the music program in the Memorial Church in the midst of Harvard Yard and leads the 180-year old Harvard University Choir in its daily choral services, broadcasts, tours, commissions, and recordings. Mr. Jones is also Music Director of the Harvard Radcliffe Chorus, the Lowell House Opera (New England’s longest-running opera company), and is a frequent collaborator with Yale’s Schola Cantorum. As a conductor, he has guested with such organizations as Boston Modern Orchestra Project, Grand Harmonie, Pro Arte Chamber Orchestra of Boston, Boston Camerata, Emmanuel Music (Boston), Longwood Symphony Orchestra, and the Handel and Haydn Society Orchestra. He has led opera productions with Iceland’s Reykjavik...
Summer Opera Festival, New England’s Intermezzo Opera, Lowell House Opera, and the Harvard Early Music Society. Mr. Jones has worked alongside William Christie, Christopher Hogwood, Nicholas McGegan, and Gil Rose, and has served as continuo player and assistant conductor to Sir John Eliot Gardiner and the English Baroque Soloists.

During his time at Harvard, Mr. Jones has overseen the publication of a new university hymnal, the installation of two new pipe organs in the Memorial Church, and has commissioned works from some of America’s most prominent contemporary composers, including Daniel Pinkham, Alice Parker, and David Conte. A native of Wales, Mr. Jones studied music at Cambridge University, where he was Organ Scholar of Emmanuel College, and served as conductor of three university orchestras. He received his Master of Music degree in orchestral conducting from Mannes College of Music in New York City, where he was the recipient of the Felix Salzer Memorial Award.

Baritone David McFerrin, hailed for a “voice of seductive beauty,” has won critical acclaim in a variety of repertoire. His opera credits include Santa Fe Opera, Seattle Opera, Florida Grand Opera, the Rossini Festival in Germany, and numerous roles with Boston Lyric Opera. As a concert soloist he has sung with the Cleveland Orchestra, Israel Philharmonic, and Boston Pops, and in recital at the Caramoor, Ravinia, and Marlboro Festivals. Last season Mr. McFerrin was a featured Adams Fellow at the Carmel Bach Festival in California; debuted with the Vermont Symphony and Boston’s groundbreaking chamber orchestra, A Far Cry; and appeared with the Handel and Haydn Society in Boston, Canada, and California. He was also runner-up in the Oratorio Society of New York's 2016 Lyndon Woodside Solo Competition, the premier contest for this repertoire. Upcoming highlights include solo appearances with the Handel and Haydn Society in performances of Bach and the Monteverdi Vespers, a debut with Boston Baroque as Achilla in Handel's Giulio Cesare, and various programs with the renaissance group Blue Heron.

Praised for her “lushly evocative mezzo” and “attentive and precise” musicianship, Clare McNamara is a Boston-based soloist and chamber musician who gravitates towards early and new music. Her affiliations include Lorelei Ensemble, Skylark Vocal Ensemble, Handel and Haydn Society, Cut Circle, The Boston Camerata, Tapestry, and other prestigious vocal ensembles with which she sings throughout the United States and abroad. Since 2011, Clare has been a core member of Boston’s award-winning Lorelei Ensemble, a unique all-female vocal octet dedicated to performing early and new music for women’s voices. The 2015–16 season included the premiere of David Lang's love fail for eight voices at Boston’s Isabella Stewart Gardner museum, as well as the ensemble’s debut at Tanglewood in George Benjamin’s “The Dream of the Song” for countertenor and eight female soloists. Lorelei will reprise this performance with the Boston Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Andris Nelsons at both Boston’s Symphony Hall and Carnegie Hall in early 2017. Clare made her European debut with the Renaissance ensemble Cut Circle at the 2014 Musica Sacra Festival in Maastricht, Netherlands. Clare also joined them at the 2015 AMUZ/Laus Polyphoniae Festival-Conference in Antwerp, Belgium, and the 2016 Tage Alter Musik Festival in Regensburg, Germany. Solo engagements from past seasons include a critically-acclaimed Jordan Hall debut with The Boston Cecilia in Bach’s Mass in B Minor, as well as Handel’s Dixit Dominus and Mozart’s Requiem with Boston’s Coro Allegro. This fall, she once again joins Coro Allegro for their upcoming performance of Bach’s Magnificat. Clare can be heard as the soloist on the soundtrack for "On the Nature of Things,” a piece by the internationally-recognized modern dance troupe Pilobolus Dance Theatre. Recent discography includes Skylark Ensemble’s second album “Crossing Over,” released in early 2016, and Lorelei’s third album “Impermanence.” Both albums were created in collaboration with the GRAMMY-nominated Sono Luminus production team. Clare holds an A.B. in Music from Princeton University and an M.M. in Early Music Performance from the Longy School of Music of Bard College. (www.claremcnamara.com)
Scene One

(The time is dawn. The sun is rising. The pilgrims are performing various reverences in front of the icons set up on the deck: they cross themselves; they bow; they touch their hands to the deck.)

PILGRIMS
Holy God, Holy Mighty, Holy Immortal,
Have mercy upon us.
Holy God, Holy Mighty, Holy Immortal,
Have mercy upon us.
Holy God, Holy Mighty, Holy Immortal,
Have mercy upon us.

(The bishop appears on deck and begins his own private prayer, walking about the deck. He is a vigorous man in early middle age with a full beard. He wears the traditional robes of a bishop of the Russian Orthodox Church.)

BISHOP
Our Father, who art in heaven,
Hallowed be Thy name.
Thy Kingdom come,
Thy will be done,
On earth as it is in heaven.
Give us this day our daily bread
And forgive us our trespasses—

(The bishop’s mother and two nuns appear. They join in the bishop’s prayer. The mother is vigorous, like her son. She is in her late 60s. The two nuns are approximately ten years younger.)

MOTHER, NUNS
As we forgive those
Who trespass against us.

PILGRIMS
For Thine is the kingdom,
And the power, and the glory
Of the Father and of the Son
And of the Holy Spirit,

Now and ever and unto ages of ages.
Amen.

BISHOP, MOTHER, NUNS
And lead us not into temptation,
But deliver us from evil. Amen.

BISHOP
Mother—good morning. Sister Angelica, Sister Miriam—a good morning to you. The Lord be with you.

MOTHER
Good morning, my son. And the Lord with you.

NUNS
Your Grace—a blessed morning to you.

BISHOP
How good of you to join my prayer.

NUNS
The honor is ours, Your Grace.

(The bishop, his mother, and the nuns begin to stroll about the deck.)

MOTHER
Did you sleep well, my son?

BISHOP
Ah, Mother, sleep—no, alas. That dream again.

MOTHER
And again you were swimming, my son?

BISHOP
Swimming, or drowning. I know I was among the fishes. All the time I was trying to rise, to breathe. But there was something keeping me down. And you, Mother? How did you sleep?

MOTHER
I dreamed of your father.
And it was summer, I suppose?

Always. And we were sailing. A little strange, don’t you think? Your parents on the water, and you—below.

(Dreams, dreams. But now, it is morning, and we are—awake!)

We reverence Thy spotless Icon, O gracious Lord,
We ask forgiveness of our sins, O Christ our God.
Wherefore we cry aloud to Thee:
Thou hast filled all things with joy,
Our savior who didst come
To save the world.

I like the mornings quite the best. The light upon the water—see. And to greet the Lord with His own prayer—how else to begin the day?

I can remember a time when you composed your own prayers, my son.

My own prayers?

When you were five, for example. When your pet mouse, little Leo, died—something he swallowed—

I had forgotten.

"Please take, dear Lord,
This little mouse of mine
Intro Thy kingdom,
With love from Alexei,
If it be Thy holy will. Amen."

(The pilgrim kneels. She places her right hand over her left hand, palms up. The bishop places his hand on her head.)

PILGRIMS
Amen.

(The pilgrim crosses herself. The bishop places his hand on her hand; she kisses his hand, rises, bows, and resumes her prayer. The bishop turns back to his mother and the two nuns.)

(He looks around the deck. At the bow, a group of pilgrims is gathered by a fisherman, who is pointing over the water and telling them something. The bishop, his mother, and the two nuns begin to move toward the bow of the boat. When the pilgrims see the bishop, they take off their caps and bow.)

FISHERMAN
They’re strange and then some.
Let me tell you friends,
You’ve never seen the like.
They’re holy ones,
They’re Christian men, all right.

That big storm last year,
You never saw such waves!
When I was washed ashore,
They came straight away to help me.
Three days it took—they healed me
Just like I was a child.

BISHOP
Who are you speaking of?

PILGRIM
Three old hermits, Your Lordship. It seems they live on that island over there—you can just barely see it.

BISHOP
I see nothing.

PILGRIM
Look along my hand—see that cloud there?
Below it, a bit to the left, there’s a faint little streak.
That’s the island.

BISHOP
Still nothing.

NUNS
(to the fisherman)
How do they look, these holy men, these hermits? Can you tell us something about them? Are they like you and me? Are they different at all?

FISHERMAN
Now the first one’s old, really old.
Must be a hundred.
He’s small! The wrinkles!
And he smiles all the time:
It’s just smile, smile, smile with him.

Then there’s the middle one:
He’s strong, oh, strong—
The muscles on him! So strong!
He righted my boat
Just like that—with one arm!

Then there’s the tall one,
A very tall one, let me tell you.
There’s a look in his eye, that one,
He’s got a look in his eye,
A look in his holy eye
That I wasn’t too sure of,
That very tall one.

BISHOP
My friend, did they speak to you?

FISHERMAN
Nothing—just about nothing.
I asked them, I said—have you been living here a long time?

All the old one said,
The one with the smile,
All he said was:
“Have mercy on us.”

PILGRIMS
Amen.

(By now, the island is visible.)

PILGRIM
There’s the island—you can see it plainly now.
BISHOP
And what is the name of the island?

FISHERMAN
No name, Your Grace. Too small for a name.

BISHOP
My good man, I should like to set foot on this island and meet these holy men. I should like to see for myself what manner of prayer they follow.

FISHERMAN
Well, I don’t know, Your Grace, and begging your pardon. The ship couldn’t get much closer than this. Too shallow, you understand. You could be rowed there, I suppose. Begging your pardon, you’d have to ask the captain.

BISHOP
Send for him, please.

MOTHER
Why this, Alexei? What is it about these men? It might be better, do you think, if they were left to themselves?

BISHOP
I’m not certain, Mother. I would simply like to see how they work for their salvation. And perhaps I might be of some help to them.

(The captain appears.)

CAPTAIN
With all respect, Your Grace, it’s not the best idea.

BISHOP
Is it out of the question?

CAPTAIN
From what I’ve heard, these are stupid old men. Not worth your time. They don’t understand anything. They don’t say anything. They’re dumb as fish. Stupid old men. Not worth your time.

BISHOP
(a little impatiently)
I can pay for your trouble, Captain. Could you then have something take me there?

CAPTAIN
Of course, but we would lose some time.

BISHOP
I will pay for that time. I should like to see them.

CAPTAIN
Very well, Your Grace.

BISHOP
And so—a boat, if you please. I will meet these holy ones.

Scene Two

(A boat is lowered. The bishop descends a ladder on the side of the ship. The fisherman joins him in the boat and begins to row him toward the island. As the bishop travels toward the island, the pilgrims are singing on board ship.)

PILGRIMS
Bless the Lord, O my soul! Blessed art Thou, O Lord! Bless the Lord, O my soul! And all that is within me Bless His holy name. Bless the Lord, O my soul! And forget not all His benefits. The Lord is compassionate and merciful.

(The mother and the two nuns pray before one of the icons.)

MOTHER, NUNS
It is truly right to bless Thee, O Theotokos, Who art ever blest and blameless: Mother of our God.

More honorable than the angels, Thou who without stain Bearest God, the Word; We magnify Thee.
(The bishop steps ashore, where the hermits are standing. They are holding hands. One hermit is small, very old, and bald, and bent. He wears a cassock. His skin is very dry and wrinkled. His white beard has a greenish tinge. He smiles continually. Sometimes he scratches the top of his head with his free hand. The second hermit is also old, but taller and straighter. He wears a tattered coat. He is strongly built and his skin is shiny. His beard is yellowish gray, shorter than the first hermit’s. His feet are planted very firmly on the earth. His manner is also kind. Sometimes he rolls his eyes. The third hermit is very tall, with a narrow face. He has a white beard down to his knees, piercing eyes, huge bushy eyebrows, and a stern look. He frowns often. He wears only a piece of matting tied around his waist. He sways from time to time, and shifts from one foot to another. The hermits bow to the bishop. When he gives them his blessing, they bow still lower.)

BISHOP
I am here, O servants of God, To see if I may be of service to you, To save your souls and to pray for your sins. (The hermits look at each other.)
I am here, O servants of God, Called to do God’s work, To instruct His flock. It is my mission To do whatever I can In His Holy name.
However scattered the sheep may be, However few in the fold, However humble the means, It is my solemn duty To bring His word. (The hermits exchange more looks. The first hermit scratches his head. The second rolls his eyes. The third shifts from one foot to the other.)

BISHOP
Tell me now, my good men— What are you doing to save your souls? Tell me—how are you serving our Savior here on this little island of yours?

HERMIT ONE
How to serve God? We don’t know how. We only serve ourselves, servant of God, Finding a little something to eat Here and there, Your Reverence, Begging your pardon, just here and there.

BISHOP
(surprised)
But how do you pray? How do you pray? (The hermits exchange glances. The first hermit sighs before he speaks.)

HERMIT ONE
This is the way we pray, Your Grace; This is what we know:

HERMITS
“Three are Ye— (The hermits look up at the sky.)
Three are we— (The hermits look down at the ground.) Have mercy on us!”

HERMIT TWO
This is the way we pray. (The bishop shakes his head. He is frowning.)

BISHOP
You know the Trinity, at least, But that is not enough. You mean to please the Lord, but You hardly know how to serve Him. It’s true there is the Trinity— Father, Son and Holy Spirit— And when the Son walked on this earth, He taught us all to pray. Now, my good men, let me see If there is something I can do To help you in your life of prayer. See now: repeat after me—

Our Father—
HERMIT ONE
Our Father—

HERMIT TWO
Our Father—

HERMIT THREE Our… Our…

BISHOP
Our Father—

HERMIT THREE Father—
(He frowns and shifts from one foot to the other.)

BISHOP
Our Father, Who art in heaven—

HERMIT ONE
Who art in…

BISHOP
Heaven—Who art in heaven…

HERMIT ONE
Who art in heaven…

HERMIT TWO
Who… Who… art…
(He rolls his eyes.)

HERMIT THREE
Have mercy on us!

BISHOP
Who art in heaven—

HERMITS
Who art… who art… in heaven—

BISHOP
(quite irritated)
Our Father, Who art in heaven—

HERMITS
Have mercy on us!

(The bishop sighs, shakes his head, and sits down wearily on a rock. The hermits continue to stand in front of him. Back on the boat, the mother and the nuns are watching through the captain’s telescope, with the captain standing beside them.)

MOTHER
Sister, what can you see now? What is happening?

SISTER MIRIAM
He’s shaking his head, Madame. He is sitting down.

MOTHER
Shaking his head? That is never a good sign.

SISTER ANGELICA
My turn, I believe, Sister.

MOTHER
And what would you say is going on?

SISTER MIRIAM
(handling over the telescope)
Some sort of teaching, I would say, Madame.

CAPTAIN
If that’s what it is, His Grace will be needing every last ounce of his patience, begging your pardon.

MOTHER, NUNS
And we must be patient too. God moves in most mysterious ways.

(Back on the island, the bishop is continuing the lesson. It is now the middle of the afternoon.)

BISHOP
Give us this day our—

HERMIT ONE
Give us this day… this day…

BISHOP
Give us this day our—

HERMIT ONE
Give us this day—
HERMIT TWO
Give us this day

HERMIT THREE
(frowning)
Give... this... us... this...

BISHOP
(a little impatiently)
Give us this day our... Our Father, Who art in heaven—

HERMIT ONE
Our Father, Who art in—

HERMIT TWO Heaven—

HERMIT ONE
Hallowed be Thy name—

HERMIT THREE
Give us this our this... Give us our day this Father!

HERMIT TWO
Our Father, Who art in heaven... so hallowed...

HERMIT ONE
Our Father, Who art in heaven, hallowed be Thy name. Give us this day!

(The bishop and the hermits mime the words and continue the lesson. Back on board ship, the mother and the nuns continue taking their turns looking through the telescope.)

SISTER ANGELICA
Now what? What can you see?

SISTER MIRIAM
He looks a little tired.

SISTER ANGELICA
I would say so. It has been hours... hours.

SISTER MIRIAM
But he surely seems to be teaching them something.

MOTHER
He’s good at that, all right. He’s a teacher. He’ll make his point.

SISTER ANGELICA
I wonder how much longer he will stay.

MOTHER
Until he’s done. He is a stubborn man. As well as a holy one, that son of mine.

CAPTAIN
Not too long till sunset now, Madame. It would be best if he’d rejoin us soon. I’d like to get under way.

SISTER MIRIAM
Here, Sister: your turn again.

(Back on the island, the hermits are approaching the end of their task.)

BISHOP
And lead us not—

HERMITS
And lead us not—

BISHOP
Into temptation—

HERMITS Into...

BISHOP
Into temptation—

HERMITS
Into temptation—

BISHOP
But deliver us—

HERMITS
But deliver us—

BISHOP
From evil—
HERMITS
From evil—

BISHOP, HERMITS
For Thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit—
Now and ever,
Unto ages of ages,
Amen.

(The bishop rises. He smiles wearily.)

BISHOP
You have worked hard, O servants of God.
And now you know how to pray
The way our Savior wished us to pray.
You have worked very hard.

The time has come for me to leave you.
There are others of the flock who need me.
Pray as I have just now taught you,
And may all go well with you.

(The hermits, each in his turn, bows to the ground before the bishop. He raises each one of them, kisses them, and blesses them. Then he gets into the boat, which pulls away from shore. As the bishop is on his way back to the ship, the hermits are standing, holding hands, repeating The Lord's Prayer.)

HERMITS
Our father, Who art in heaven,
Hallowed be Thy name.
Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done
On earth as it is in heaven.

(As the bishop comes closer to the ship, the sound of the hermits grows fainter, and we begin to hear the pilgrims singing the evening prayer.)

PILGRIMS
Now that the day has come to a close,
I thank thee, O Lord,
And I ask that the evening with the night
May be sinless;
Grant this to me, O grant this to me,
O Savior, and save me.

Both now and forever,
And unto ages of ages,
Amen.

HERMITS
(faintly)
Our Father,
Who art in heaven—

PILGRIMS
Now that the blessed day has passed,
I praise Thee, O Lord,
And I ask that the evening with the night
May be without blame;
Grant this to me, O grant this to me,
O Savior, and save me.

Both now and forever,
And unto ages of ages,
Amen.

HERMITS
(very faintly)
Hallowed be Thy Name—

(As the bishop boards the boat and is embraced by his mother.)

PILGRIMS
Lord, have mercy.

Scene Three

(Night. The moon is up. The pilgrims are sleeping on deck. The bishop is seated in a chair at the stern of the ship. His mother and the two nuns are with him.)

MOTHER
(tenderly)
Such a moon. And you have had quite a day, my son.
Now you should sleep.

BISHOP
I cannot get them out of my mind.

SISTER MIRIAM
They were holy men, Your Grace?
BISHOP
They were holy men. But they knew so little.
Next to nothing. But yes—holy.

SISTER ANGELICA
But now they know, Your Grace, what you have taught them.

BISHOP
That is true. But one entire day to teach just one prayer…

MOTHER
"Unless you become as little children."
Remember, Alexei?

BISHOP
Yes, Mother. They were like little children, so grateful to learn. I feel blessed to have been able to bring them the Word of God. And yet…

MOTHER
God will bless your work.
(She rises.)
Time for sleep. Tonight, Alexei, only good dreams after the good work you have done.

BISHOP
They have so little. They know so little.
Their little hut is made of earth. They scarcely eat. All so simple. The ways of God are strange. I cannot get them out of my head.

(The mother is peering out over the sea.)

MOTHER
What is that?

BISHOP
What is it, mother?

MOTHER
There on the water—over there!

(The bishop and the two nuns rise. They join the mother at the railing of the ship.)

SISTER ANGELICA
A boat… a sailing boat…

SISTER MIRIAM
No, those are gulls, I think…

MOTHER
It is following us.

SISTER MIRIAM
Following?

BISHOP
Yes… yes… every moment it comes closer.

SISTER MIRIAM
The moon is so bright; it is hard to tell just what it is.

SISTER ANGELICA
It must be a boat—that gleam must be its sail in the moonlight.

BISHOP
It might be fish—a school of fish, leaping.

MOTHER
Dolphins—blooming in the White Sea!

SISTER ANGELICA
It must be a boat—it’s gleaming in the moonlight.

SISTER MIRIAM
The moon is so bright, so bright.

BISHOP
Wait! No… Wait! It looks like a man, but it’s too large for a man. Besides, what man could be in the midst of the sea?

Enough! Time for a professional opinion—Captain!

(Captain appears.)

CAPTAIN
Your Grace, how may I help you?
MOTHER
(Excitedly, almost girl-like)
We are seeing something, Captain, over there.
There! We think it might be a boat, but it's closing much too fast for... The moon is so bright, it's hard to tell.

CAPTAIN
Let me see.
(The Captain puts the telescope to his eye. His mouth falls open. He drops the telescope.)
The three... the three... Lord!

NUNS
The hermits! It is the hermits!
The hermits are running over the water,
As though it were dry land!

MOTHER
(Ecstatic)
As though it were dry land!

BISHOP
The hermits? Lord, have mercy on us!
(The bishop stumbles. The captain catches him. He leans against the railing. The pilgrims wake at the noise, rise, and crowd to the sides of the ship. They point toward the hermits.)

PILGRIMS
The hermits are running, running over the water; running, gliding over the waves.

BISHOP
(Observing)
Our father, Who art in heaven,
Hallowed be Thy name.

ALL
Over the waves,
Gliding over the waves!
Amen.

(The hermits appear beside the ship. Standing on the water, they address the bishop, hand in hand.)

HERMITS
Servant of God, we have forgotten—what comes after “Who art in heaven”?

While you were teaching,
we could remember everything

As soon as you left us, oh our memory began to fail us.

Servant of God, for love of Him, teach us again...

Our Father, Our Father...

(The bishop crosses himself again. He bows low to the hermits.)

BISHOP
(Solemnly)
Your prayer, your prayer, you holy ones,
your own prayer is loved by God.

It is not for me to teach you.
In my pride, I tried to change you.

Pray for us, you holy ones;
your own prayer is loved by God.

(The hermits bow, turn, and begin running back over the sea.)

FISHERMAN
Their feet are not even moving!
PILGRIMS
Even before we call on Your name
To ask You, O God,
When we seek for the words to glorify You,
You hear our prayer;
Unceasing love, O unceasing love,
Surpassing all we know.

Glory to the Father,
And to the Son,
And to the Holy Spirit.

BISHOP
Pray for us.
Have mercy on us.

HERMITS
(faintly)
Our Father, Who art in heaven—

MOTHER, NUNS
In Your mercy,
Look on us.
In Your wisdom,
Look on us.
In Your bounty,
Look on us.

PILGRIMS
Even with darkness sealing us in,
We breathe Your name,
And through all the days that follow so fast,
We trust in You;
Endless Your grace, O endless Your grace,
Beyond all mortal dream.

Both now and for ever,
And unto ages and ages.
Amen.

HERMITS
(very faintly)
Three are Ye,
Three are we—
Have mercy on us!
Amen.
