

The English Concert American Fellows

“A Little Lunchtime Early Music”

Join us for a FREE Lunchtime Concert

Presented by Memorial Church and The English Concert in America

Monday November 2, 2015 at 12:15 pm
Memorial Church at Harvard

This afternoon's concert introduces you to The English Concert American Fellows, a group of brilliantly talented young musicians selected for their achievements in historical performance.

Supported by The English Concert in America, the Fellows are chosen each year by Maestro Harry Bicket (right), Artistic Director of The English Concert, Europe's leading baroque orchestra. This new initiative promotes the development of young talent through “musicians teaching musicians.”

Maestro Harry Bicket, Co-
Founder of The English
Concert American Fellowship

Please join us and enjoy a FREE concert by some of the best rising stars of early music and historical performance!

Musical Program to feature select baroque works by composers including Bach, Vivaldi, Biber, Telemann

The English Concert American Fellows are: Adriane Post (Violin), Jude Ziliak (Violin), Ignacio Prego (Harpsichord), Kevin Payne (Theorbo/Lute), Caroline Nicolas (Cello) and Kyle Miller (Viola)

For more information on The English Concert in America and to read more about the Fellowship and Young Musicians featured, visit www.tecinamerica.org